Pure Indulgence

WRITTEN BY
FRANCES & MICHAEL HOWORTH

Her gracious accommodation and ample deck space coupled with her 'can do' crew makes Indulgence the perfect hedonist's hideaway

The Cote D'Azur, on the Mediterranean south coast of France, is the European playground for large yachts. Look over any pretty bay or inlet and they grace every anchorage, with their white hulls gleaming in the sunlight, which is reflected in the azure waters that gave the coast its name. At first glance, you might be forgiven for thinking that it has all been done before and that all the superlatives have been written, but if that's the case, there would be no need for any further indulgence, and that would indeed be a great shame. Indulgence is to yacht charter what coffee is to cappuccino: it's an essential ingredient. Her gracious accommodation and ample deck space coupled with her "can do" crew makes her the perfect hedonist's hideaway. Place all those ingredients into French Mediterranean sunshine and you have the recipe for pure indulgence.
